Introduction

The National Commission for the Protection of Child Rights (NCPCR) conducted a fact-finding visit from 17th to 19th December 2007, to Dantewada (Chhattisgarh) and Khammam (Andhra Pradesh), in order to assess the status of children’s health and education in the situation of civil unrest in Dantewada district. The fact-finding team comprised Dr. Shantha Sinha (Chairperson, NCPCR), Mr. J.M. Lyngdoh (Former Chief Election Commissioner of India), and Mr. Venkat Reddy (MV Foundation, Hyderabad).

Executive Summary - Key Recommendations

The following report details a narrative account of the team’s visit and highlights key issues pertaining to children and families in camps and villages affected by conflict in Dantewada and those displaced across state borders as a result of the same. Specific action items recommended by the NCPCR team in response to these issues have also been noted.

During the team’s visit to the Dantewada Region, the members’ were struck by the enormous tragedies of one and all especially the tribals, their family members, women and children. This is indeed unfortunate. We strongly feel that the State has an obligation to extricate them from the unusual circumstances they have been caught in and ensure their security and fundamental human rights as paramount concerns.

We feel that with conscious effort in the direction of protecting children and their rights there is a window of hope in harmonizing the society. Giving every child an access to education up to class ten and investing in providing all that is necessary to make education happen, we feel can ensure a secure freedom for these children and their families and even deepen democracy.

Overall the NCPCR is of the view that there are a number of core areas of concern, which require comprehensive strategies and strong, time-sensitive implementation plans to address the profound impact of violence, deprivation and disruption on the lives and rights of children and their families affected by conflict in the region. The NCPCR team has issued key recommendations noted below and will continue to monitor progress on the implementation of these recommendations.

1. Child Rights Training & Development

   - Underlining its concern for the protection of the rights of children in regions affected by conflict, the NCPCR committee has recommended the establishment of a Child Rights Cell in the office of the Dantewada and Khammam District Collector with members from the community, officials and non-officials;

   - It has also called for and offered to facilitate the training of the functionaries of all institutions dealing with children (schools, hostels, Ashram Shalas, Anganwadi Centres etc) in a systematic fashion to sensitize them on child rights issues.
Recognising the special role of police in protecting child rights, a group of SPO volunteers has been requested to be identified for Child Rights Protection training.

- Further a process of social audit of children’s rights to be led by the trained people has been recommended at Block and District level.

2. Monitoring and support of Inter-State Displaced Children & Families

- The NCPCR committee has identified the protection of entitlements and rights of displaced children and families and attendance to their needs as a priority concern to be addressed through inter-state collaboration. In this regard its recommendations include the conduct of survey work and maintenance of registers on the families who have shifted to AP over the recent years in the wake of the unrest; and sharing of this data between state governments with actions to be taken to ensure provision of access to all basic social services by these families.

- With regard to education both governments have been asked to collaborate on ensuring provision of education to the children of all those families who have fled from Chhattisgarh. Key measures to include facilitation of issuing of transfer certificates and other documentation to children who have dropped out of schools; assistance with readmission into the schools, supply of Hindi textbooks and deputation of school teachers to Andhra Pradesh for enabling reintegration of children into schools.

3. Schools as Zone of Peace

- In recognizing schools as a critical element in ensuring the protection of children’s rights the NCPCR Committee strongly urges that schools be identified as ‘zones of peace’ by all parties. This would include non-use of schools for any other than educational purposes, separation of schools from the camps, and introduction of programmes addressing the psycho-social needs of the children delivered within the school environment with appropriate training of teachers.

4. Re-building of disrupted education & health services/infrastructure affecting children in camps and villages

- A rapid assessment of food security issues and child malnutrition levels in camps and villages has been recommended together with the implementation of immediate actions to target gaps including meal provision through schools and anganwadis.

- Given the committee’s very high concern at the near invisibility of the adolescent age group of children – data has been requested on a priority basis by gender on this demographic in camps and villages focusing on school participation; a needs assessment and action plan addressing capacity / access to ashram schools, residential schools, hostels etc has also been requested.
The establishment of procedures for greater transparency in all institutions such as schools, hostels, Ashram Shalas, Aanganwadi Centres etc., has been called for through the constitution of a committee for periodic review of the functioning of such institutions;

Immediate action has also been called for with regard to provision of adequate toilet and sanitation facilities in the camps

The NCPCR committee would also like to draw attention to and call for adherence to the UNHRC guiding principles on all forms of internal displacement, which highlight fundamental rights addressing displaced children within the context of their families/guardians. These include:

(i) Principle 13 – prohibition of recruitment of children in armed forces and participation in hostilities

(ii) Principle 23 – right of displaced children to receive education

(iii) Principles 16 & 17 – right to be informed about the whereabouts of missing relatives and re-unification with dispersed family members

(iv) Principle 15 - protection of internally displaced persons against forcible return to re-settlement in any place which places their life, liberty, safety, health etc at risk

(v) Principles 28 – 30 – right to return in safety and dignity and the obligation upon authorities to help recover property and possessions or gain appropriate reparation
Account of Fact-Finding Team visit

A. Displaced Children & Families, Andhra Pradesh

Day 1: 17th December 2007

1. Public Hearing in Charla (Khammam District)

The civil unrest in Dantewada and Bijapur district, resulting from the reported conflict between Naxals and Salwa Judum, has forced many families and individuals to flee to Andhra Pradesh. Independent sources claim that at least 30,000 people from South Bastar are staying in Khammam, Warangal and East Godavari districts. The public hearing was organized to understand the condition of these internally displaced people (IDP) and children.

The public hearing was held in Charla and was attended by more than 200 IDP: men, women and children. The team heard the testimonies of over 35 people. Every testimony included a narrative of extreme violence committed against them, their families and property, by the Naxalites, Salwa Judum and the security forces. Many people shared accounts of family members being killed and women raped by the Salwa Judum. The testimonies noted the difference between Naxalites and the Salwa Judum. Having faced repeated acts of violence, harassment, arson and pillage the only option for these people was to run away from their villages and seek refuge in another state. This movement often involved walking for three days through the jungle, to avoid detection by the Naxalites and Salwa Judum. The accounts described how often the old and infirm had to be left behind because they could not undertake this journey, and there are many such separated families where some family members are hiding in the forests of Chhattisgarh. Leaving behind their land and livestock they have arrived in Andhra Pradesh in a state of penury and distress.

Also noted was the increased pressure on infrastructure (such as water and housing) as well as on livelihood opportunities in villages in AP as a result of the increased population. The testimony accounts highlighted the neglect of the IDPs’ circumstances by the A.P. administration, which is further contributing to their continuing poverty, ill health, and despair. The team heard that some elected representatives of gram panchayats have taken up the issues of migrant tribal population regarding lack of services.

Despite having faced such hardship all in attendance at the public hearing expressed a wish to return home once the situation returns to normal.
2. Visit to IDP settlement in village Sirivella (Charla mandalam, Khammam district.)

Enroute to Dantewada the team visited a settlement of displaced tribals in Sirivella village. The settlement was on the outskirts of the village with about 30 families including 29 children. They were told that this particular hamlet had been burnt about 3-4 times by the Forest Department because it was illegal occupation of forest land. Moreover the families described how they have also faced opposition from the locals in a situation where increases in population will place a strain on the resources.

These families are surviving on daily coolie work and missing one day of work translates into the next day spent in a state of hunger. One family had had nothing to eat that day, as the mother was unable to find work the previous day. The team noted that all the people, adults and children, looked emaciated. The children had protruding bellies, a telling sign of malnourishment. One 2-year-old girl looked hardly older than a three-month baby. It was evident that this settlement was experiencing a situation of chronic food deprivation.

The team also met a 14-15 year old boy, who had completed education up to 7th standard, but had not been able to enroll in school in Andhra Pradesh. He wanted to continue studies.

The issue of migration of tribals and their entitlements has to be dealt with in a systematic fashion.

Key issues highlighted during the public hearing and discussions are:

1. IDP Numbers & Entitlements: there is neither an estimate of the numbers of such settlers nor any plan for ensuring their entitlements.
2. Settlements: The Forest Department has been continuously evicting IDPs from their temporary hutments in the Forest Areas.
3. Livelihood: Most adults are engaged in coolie work. They are denied access to work under the NREGA and the PDS grain as well. These families are living a hand-to-mouth existence, verging on the brink of daily starvation.
4. Education: Prior to moving to AP, the children would attend schools in Chhattisgarh. However in A.P. they are being denied admission as they have no school certificates and also because they are unfamiliar with Telugu as a medium of instruction.
5. ICDS facilities: Children in the age-group on 0-6 years have no access to Anganwadis and ICDS services. Nonetheless immunisation services have been made available to them.
6. IDP Return & Re-settlement: Everyone wanted to return to their home and villages.

1 Coolie work includes agricultural labour, loading-unloading of goods in markets or factories etc.
The NCPCR has recommended the following specific action items for immediate follow-up:

1. There has to be a census of such population including a clear age- and gender-wise estimation of children in the 0-18 years age group.
2. All children below six years have to be covered under the ICDS, and a programme must immediately be launched to address the hunger and malnourishment of children, pregnant and lactating mothers and adolescent girls.
3. Schools dropouts are to be given education and arrangements of RBCs have to be made through the SSA to re-integrate them into formal schools. This would include collective meetings of the district collector with the district education officers. A meeting of the Chief Secretaries and district collectors of both A.P. and Chhattisgarh would be beneficial in redressing all issues of the displaced tribals.
4. The families need to be given ration cards, so that they can avail grain through PDS.
5. The adults also need to be given job cards, so that they can apply for work under the NREGA.

B. Children and Families in Camps & Villages in Dantewada District

3. Interaction with children of Ashram Schools, Konta (Dantewada)

The team interacted with nearly 250-300 children studying in the Ashram school at Konta. Most of the children were studying in class 1 and 2. Some of them looked older and could have been higher classes. In this interaction some children were specially identified and introduced by the Salwa Judum volunteers to the team as children whose parents were killed by naxalites.

4. Visit to Errabore and Injaram government camp (Dantewada district)

The NCPCR team made brief stops at Injaram and Errabore camps.

The Injaram camp presently has about 3500 people including 1500 children. The Injaram camp seems to be developing into a permanent settlement with pakka houses and tiled roofs. Schools and anganwadi teachers from Konta block have been shifted to this camp, thus there are about 25 teachers for 320 children, and five ICDS centres operating in the camp. The situation in Errabore camp is similar with five schools and about 15 Anganwadi centres. Though the teacher-student ratio may be ideal because of this, the general atmosphere of camps was not found to be conducive for children’s education and development. The team noted that there were many children who were not adequately clothed, and in light of the intensifying winter it is important to act on this immediately.
For their livelihood most camp inmates were working on dam and pond construction. Rations were also provided to the camp inmates at the rate of ½ k.g. rice per day per person, and ½ k.g. dal\(^2\) per person, per week. In the absence of cultivating their lands it is pertinent to note that the diet of the camp residents was very limited, potentially resulting in malnutrition. Nonetheless it is important to note the children residing in the hostel, were provided a dinner meal everyday.

Day 2: 18\(^{th}\) December 2007

1. Public Hearing in Kirandul (Dantewada)

Kirandul is a mining town nestled in the Eastern Ghats of south Chhattisgarh. The public hearing witnessed a participation of more than 200 tribals from Dantewada and Bijapur, mostly people living in villages, and a few from the government camps, Salwa Judum members, NGO representatives and government functionaries.

Here too the testimonies were replete with stories of bloodshed, arson and untold anguish. There were many tribals who had fled from their villages for fear of Naxalites and their atrocities. The villagers complained that the Naxalites allow no development works, road construction, they have blown up schools and they control all land and livelihood activities. Moreover they also disallowed visits by teachers and doctors to the villages. Many also complained that their children and women are taken away by the Naxalites and given training in revolutionary ideology. The villagers said that they wished to return to their villages but couldn’t do so without police protection because they will be persecuted by the Naxalites.

Simultaneously there were many accounts of violence by the Salwa Judum members and security forces too. Salwa Judum has forced many villagers to move to the camps, and burnt houses, livestock and in some cases standing crops, so that those who stay back in villages have no means of subsistence. There were numerous accounts of family members being killed for resisting the Salwa Judum. Also it was shared that the tribals are not allowed to leave the camps and return to camps- most who do so have been doing so surreptitiously. Many participants in the public hearing had been hiding in the forests and trekked through the night to reach Kirandul. One woman had left her children under a bush, to be cared by others, to attend the public hearing.

A number of the villagers who have moved to camps have been there for two years. Even within camps all services and entitlements are not completely secured. Lack of sanitation facilities emerged as a big problem within the camps. Pilferage of funds from camps was also alleged. Livelihood activities within the camp comprise working on government works like road and dam construction. Many camp inmates with lands near the camps

\(^2\) Dal: lentils
cultivate their lands during the day and return to the camp during the night. Many other have joined the Chhattisgarh Police as Special Police Officers (SPOs).³

The situation in the villages is reported to be worse than in the camps. All the testimonies of the camp inmates as well those currently residing in villages stated that there were no schools, anganwadis or primary health centers in their villages. Upon the admission of the government officers, even prior to Salwa Judum about 65% of the district was inaccessible to them because of Naxalite presence. In the districts of Dantewada and Bijapur most government services have been restricted to the roadside camps. However social activists of the area allege that when no teachers or doctors have been harmed by Naxalites, there is no reason to stop education and health services. A big problem is that schools and Anganwadi teachers have been shifted from the villages to the camps leading to a concentration of service-providers in camps and no services available to those who are still living in villages. Moreover the numbers of people in the camps has reduced, and the government should actively work on reopening schools and health facilities in the villages.

Most of the tribals who are not in camps stated, that they are living in the forests in fear of discovery by both the Naxals as well as the Salwa Judum members. They are cultivating their lands as best as they can, but apart from this there is little other work available. The situation of food security in the villages is grave, with many people at the public hearing not being able to concretely say what they had eaten the day before. Visits to the haats (weekly markets) have also become restricted, as the villagers fear capture by the salwa judum or police.

Key issues highlighted include:

1. The Salwa Judum volunteers’ insistence on showcasing children as victims naxal violence raises concerns for their re-integration to normalcy. This can cause damage to children’s psyche resulting in a delay in the non-existent healing process. The food security situation and lack of social infrastructure/services in villages requires urgent attention.
2. The NCPCR team disturbingly did not see many children in the 10+ age group.
3. The ICDS centers run for only about 3 hours in a day, as a result of which the parents leave their children at home when they leave for work.
4. There is a grave need for creating spaces for dialogue between tribals and with the government as well. For this the government and civil society activists need to work together. All agencies are responsible for recreating trust in society.
5. Everyone wanted to return to their home and villages

³ According to a government official the criteria for selecting SPOs is that: (a) they should be above 18 years of age; (b) their families should be resident within the camp; and (c) they should be victims of Naxal violence.
Key action items with regard to the above issues are noted below:

1. Schools and anganwadi centers must be re-opened in the villages.
2. A village-level committee should be formed to monitor progress of every child in the village.
3. The PDS shops should be reopened in the villages, as also NREGA works should be started so that some livelihood opportunity can be created.
4. A rapid assessment of food security issues and child malnutrition levels in camps and villages has been recommended together with the implementation of immediate actions to target gaps including meal provision through schools and anganwadis.
5. A demographic survey of children in the 10+ age group and a needs assessment with regard to schooling must be conducted urgently.
6. It is suggested that the ICDS centre timings be extended to serve as day-care centers. In this case a mid-day meal must be provided to children in addition to the supplementary nutrition.

2. Meeting with District Collector, SP and other District Officials

The NCPCR Committee raised all of the key issues noted in this report in discussions and dialogue with the district officials. We received broad based agreement on follow-up of the key actions we have recommended and hope to see progress on these in the very near future.

With regard to violation of children’s rights the Committee would like to specifically note that in reference to the practice of the recruitment of children under 18 years of age as SPOs, the government and police agreed that this had occurred in the past due to lack of strong protocols on age validation but assured us that these have now been strictly enforced.

The NCPCR strongly urges vigilant, strict monitoring by the government to ensure that this fundamental violation of a child’s rights does not occur.

Testimonies received at the public hearing. (Names have been changed to protect the identity of the petitioners)

At the CHARLA PUBLIC HEARING, KHAMMAM, A.P.

1. From,
   Medium Ramanna, Sitara Association
   We work for internally displaced people from Chhattisgarh and work to provide them ration cards, education facilities and health facilities. Have done a survey of IDPs in Khammam district and submitted a list to the NCPCR. IDP children are not being admitted to schools.

2. From,
   Director, Sitara Association
   In Konta taluka, 30-40 villages have been burnt by Salwa Judum. About 20,000 people from Chhattisgarh are staying in Khammam. The DSP, Khammam has provided help to IDPs in terms of clothes and utensils.

3. From,
   Goppa Veraiyya
   Teacher, Warangal
   The IDP settlements are in the nature of 10 hutments in a single area. The Forest department is burning the houses of the IDPs as the settlements are based in reserve forests area. They are being treated as enemies of the state. There are no health, educational, and livelihood services and opportunities available to them.

4. Parminder,
   Badagudem Kendram, Chhattisgarh
   About 50 families have come here, which includes 40 children. They have been here (in AP) for about 2 years. The Salwa Judum and police has harassed us, and killed 4 of my family members. The village was burnt. We have escaped and left our cattle behind. Sometimes we go back to visit them.

5. Joginder,
   of Lingagiri village, Vasaguda mandal, Dantewada
   The salwa judum and police came to our village and asked us to come and stay at the police stations. But we refused to go, and they beat us. They returned another time and killed 3-4 people of the village. Some 50-60 villages have fled to A.P. from there, and have relocated in Peddamuselara village, Cherla mandal. Our children are not being admitted into schools, as they have no certificates, and have a problem with reading and writing telugu. The children are given immunisation and polio drops.

6. Nirali,
of Lingagiri village, Dantewada

Salwa Judum would visit our villages and ask us to go to the police stations. The Salwa Judum members were people of other villages who would come together and harass us. They wore pants. No one from our villages joined the Salwa Judum. The police came with guns and killed 2 members of my family and raped my niece.
In the past we have been migrating to Charla for a few months to work as agricultural labourers. Since we knew this place, we fled here. A few families collectively traveled, on foot for three days to reach A.P. There was a pregnant woman amongst us, who delivered a baby on route. Some IDPs say that if children speak telugu and study in telugu it will be a problem when we go back, because in Chhattisgarh the teaching is done in hindi. We want to return to our villages if circumstances permit. Our land papers have got destroyed when the houses were set on fire.

7. Sambasiva,
of Patanendra village, Darbaguda panchayat, Dantewada.

The Salwa Judum has burnt our houses and cattle. They accuse villagers about being supporters of Naxalites. We are farmers. We have fled to AP and are currently living in Chintoor mandalam, Khammam. Some 70 families from Patanendra village are staying here. A few elders have visited Chhattisgarh about 3-4 times. Our children are not being admitted in schools on grounds of not having certificates. Some children have also got malaria.

8. Kantidas (age: 70 years)
Of Lingagiri Village, Dantewada

I have fled alone to AP. My sons are still in Chhattisgarh, living in fear in the forests. One son has been killed. I survive by doing coolies work here.

9. 6 families from Chhattisgarh have settled in Enkatur village, Cherla mandal, Khammam. Their children are going to school.

10. Prabhudas,
Reporter, Varta newspaper

The children on IDPs need hindi medium schools for education.
11. Ramanadri
Of Lingapuram

We have come to AP two years ago. Our children are not being admitted into schools. They are getting immunisation. We survive by doing coolie work in the paper mill. For the work we get 3 ser rice and Rs. 30 daily. We have no ration card here.
We want to go back. We want you to send us back.

12. B. Venkatamma,
Ward member, Lingapuram village, Charla mandal, Khammam

There are about 75 IDP families in her area. Some IDP children are going to school, but no other facilities are being provided to them.

When the Mandal Revenue Officer told higher officials about the presence of IDP and lack of services to them, he was told that, since the IDPs will go back to their own villages, thus no services need to be provided to them.

At the KIRANDUL PUBLIC HEARING, DANTEWADA, CHHATTISGARH

13. From,
Kasoli Camp, Geedam block, Dantewada

We have fled from Abujmar village from fear of Naxalites. My husband was killed by Naxalites. There we have no schools, no anganwadis, no livelihood facilities, no bridges and no roads. This village is on the other side of the Indrawati river. We have been in the camp for 3 years and survive by doing coolie work (weaving bamboo). About 50% of the abujmar village is in the camp.
The Kasoli camp has 2 primary schools, 2 secondary schools, 2 ashram schools and 1 high school.

14. Gyaneshwar,
Orcha, Abujmar block

We have come to camp due to fear of Naxals. There are about 30 people from the village in the camp. The naxals have stopped road construction and other developmental activities. They have blown up 4 balak ashrams. They ask the students to vacate the school and then blow up the building. They control our land and cattle. They also forcibly take away our women.
We haven’t returned to the village after going to the camp. We cannot go back without security.

15. From,
Abujmar village, Bangoli panchayat, Bhairamgarh block, Bijapur district

The Naxalites don’t want any government services. They do not allow any government teachers and doctors. They have blown up 4 ashram schools, and there are no education facilities. They destroy buildings because they think the police forces will use them. They also take away all children above class 5. They are killing people, my own brother was killed when he protested against them. Naxals want everyone to remain poor. All villagers of Abujmar have come to camps. I migrated to Dantewada in 2004. There are good education facilities for my children here. We haven’t returned from fear of the naxalites.

16. Inmate of Kasoli camp, Bhairamgarh block
(originally from Pallevai village)

The Naxals have trained us to do lal salaam. They tell us to work collectively and eat collectively but the loot all the money that comes for government works.

The camp has school and anganwadi facilities. Children are in the camp ashram school.

17. Himanshu
Vanvasi Chetna Ashram, Kavalnar, Dantewada

Many children within camps are out of school and anganwadis. Malnutrition deaths have also been reported in the camps. Thus it is not true that all facilities have been provided in the camps. Teachers, anganwadi workers, handpump mechanics and doctors are not going to villages out of fear that naxalites will target them. However an RTI I have filed shows that no such functionaries have been harmed by the naxalites, then why have these services been withdrawn.

18. Lingam Marka
Vanvasi Chetna Ashram (NGO), Dantewada
There are no sanitation facilities in the camps like: Injaram, Dornapal, Konta, Errabore and Kasoli.

19. N.W. Andrew
Executive Engineer, State Electricity Board

Our department is working in the interior areas as well, so Himanshu’s allegation is wrong. Our staff has also been threatened by Naxalites. Sometimes the movement is restricted for short durations, but resumed later.
20. Mr. Shrikant Dubey
Asst. Commissioner, Tribal Affairs
Dantewada

The Electricity board has to go once in a couple of years, but the teachers have to go daily. There is a greater threat to them. We have been talking to the Sangham leaders as well, about allowing teachers to function in these areas, but they have not agreed. The naxalites use school rations in many places. In the past 2 years about 60 new ashram schools have been sanctioned. In fact 5000 additional children have already been admitted to school. 3 primary schools in an area will be closed to make 1 ashram school. In Dantewada the ashram schools are open all 12 months, unlike other places where they function for 10 months. We do not have the statistics of children per village, and our communication lines are not complete, but 5000 new admissions show that there has been some communication.

21. Dr. G.S. Thakur
Chief Medical Officer

It is not correct that we are not providing services in the interior areas.

22. Manish Kunjam,
Ex-MLA, Konta

Konta is the biggest block in the country, and measures 100 km at its widest. The village schools have been closed and brought to camps. In Bijapur 140 schools have been closed. How can all children be serviced by roadside schools. All records are bogus. The work is concentrated only in the salwa judum areas and no work is being done in the non-salwa judum areas. Also there is much pilferage of funds in the camps. The villagers are not allowed to leave camp and return home. More than 7000 homes have been burnt by salwa judum. Camps have been created for political purposes. They will remain till 2008 elections and then be disbanded. The voting lists are only being prepared for camp inmates and not in villages. The solution would be that: (a) those villagers who wish to return to villages must be allowed to do so, as 90% of the villagers have been brought to camp forcibly. Schools should be reopened in villages. Ashram schools should be opened at the block level, where a conducive environment for education should be created.

23. Swami,
Dhurli village

The zila panchayat and state government is taking land forcibly for steel plant. False gram sabhas have been held and 4 villagers were jailed for protesting. Then the villagers were made to sign over their land saying that they were signing attendance sheets.

24. Only teachers have been relocated, not children, thus they have lost out the educational opportunities. Also adivasi development is based on education opportunities. There is no NREGA in Bijapur and Konta block.

25. From Ghumodi village

There is no anganwadi and school in the village. Children have been taken to another village to study.

26. From Tumalpatu village,

There is no school and anganwadi in the village. There are many children in the village. The salwa judum has burnt houses, taken their cattle and fowl. We have been living in the forest for 2 years because houses were burnt. We cannot farm and there is little to eat.

27. From Karaiguda village,

My husband was killed by Salwa judum while cultivating mirchi on our land. They also looted jewellery, 15 hens, and 3 goats. I have two children and there is no school or anganwadi in my village. I have left them under a bush to come to this hearing.

28. From Karaiguda village,

My house has been burnt and rice stock destroyed. We are now living in the jungle out of fear of being attacked again. The children are also with us in the jungle.#

This person could not concretely list the food items he or his children ate that morning. This is a clear indication of food insufficiency.

29. From Batol village, Kirandul, Dantewada

Twenty-five houses in my village were burnt..

30. Up-Sarpanch
Kuakonda tehsil

The salwa judum burnt about 60-70 houses in my village. They also looted jewellery, utensils, clothes, hens and cattle.

Written petitions received by Chairperson (NCPCR) at the Charla public hearing (Khammam, Andhra Pradesh): 17th December 2007

   Sub: request to safeguard the future of displaced adivasi children

   The Sitara Association is giving health services to the displaced tribals in the Palvancha and Bhadrachalam divisions of Khammam district. In our area of work there are about 430 such displaced children, who are engaged in child labour. Last year all these children were studying in class 4, 5, 6 and 7 in Chhattisgarh. In Andhra Pradesh they are working as goatherds in various villages.
   We request that special RBC (Resident Bridge Course) centres in hindi language should be provided for these children, such that their education is safeguarded. In A.P. the administration is not undertaking any such action for these children. Whenever the officials were asked, we were told that these displaced children from Chhattisgarh will not be admitted into schools, because they will go back.
   We request you to make provisions for the education of such children.

   Sub: Request to provide education, health, ration cards, drinking water facilities and enumeration in voters list.

   Due to the civil unrest in Chhattisgarh almost 20,000 tribals have fled to A.P., and are living in pitiable conditions. Due to AP administration these children have lost out on education also.
   Salwa Judum atrocities began in February 2006 in Konta taluk, Dantewada district, Chhattisgarh. Since this time tribals have been emptying their villages. Simultaneously Naxals have torched houses of tribals on the grounds that they have joined the salwa judum. However the salwa judum have burnt greater number of houses and entire villages in some cases. The people have list all their belongings—money, livestock, clothes, jewellery—in this arson. Teachers have stopped attending school from fear of Naxals and salwa judum. Additionally naxals have blasted school buildings as they may be used by police forces as shelters. The villagers have left their houses due to the collective fear of police, naxals and judum. They are living on forests to save their lives. About 20,000 tribals have settled in Pavlancha and Bhadrachalam divisions of Khammam district. We are providing health services to some of these displaced people but our support is not adequate. We request you to recognize these displaced tribals as citizens of India and support the A.P. administration to turn service these tribals.

3. Sub: Request to give protection from Salwa Judum and Maoists atrocities, which include violence, beating, killings, rape, arson and false cases on innocent tribals.

We are submitting this information for your knowledge and action.
I am Chidem Nagesh s/o Kishtaiah, resident of Lingagairi village, Bhoopalpatnam taluka, Bhasagoda police station, Dantewada district. I belong to the Gotti Koya tribe. There are 2 adults and 2 children in my family. We have undergone great atrocities by salwa judum.
Presently we are living in Peddamidisineru village, Cherla mandal, Khammam district. We have left all properties, livestock and land in Chhattisgarh and come to AP. Here we are surviving by doing labour work and begging.
We request you to protect us as we have nothing to do with the clashes between Maoists, Salwa Judum, CRPF and police.

Sub: Request to give protection from Salwa Judum and Maoists atrocities, which include violence, beating, killings, rape, arson and false cases on innocent tribals.

We are submitting this information for your knowledge and action.
In Chhattisgarh the violence between the state, Maoists, and salwa judum, has resulted in innocent tribals being caught in between. Amongst this the Gotti Koya tribe has been greatly affected. There has been much killing, rape, arson and people being beaten up in this. The people have left behind all their possessions – their land, agriculture, cattle, goats, hens, houses, clothes, jewellery- and fled to Andhra Pradesh. Here they are surviving by doing labour work and begging. We request you to protect them as they have nothing to do with the clashes between Maoists, Salwa Judum, CRPF and police.

I am Sode Sommaiyah s/o Chokkaiyah, resident of Nambi village, Bijapur taluka. There are 2 adults and 2 children in my family. We have undergone great atrocities by salwa judum.
Salwa Judum members came to our village one day and asked us to join the salwa judum, otherwise they threatened to charge us as being supporters of Maoists. On their second visit they beat us up, torched our houses and raped women.
Presently we are living in Brahmanapalli village, ST colony, Mangapeta mandal, Warangal district.
We have left all properties, livestock and land in Chhattisgarh and come to AP. Here we are surviving by doing labour work and begging. We request you to protect us as we have nothing to do with the clashes between Maoists, Salwa Judum, CRPF and police.

Petitions received by the Chairperson (NCPCR) at the Kirandul public hearing, (Dantewada, Chhattisgarh): 18th December 2007

1. Sub: Complaint about my father being killed by the police and SPO.

I am Nagesh, S/o Hemlabori. I am a resident of Tumadpal village, Simlipenta panchayat, Jagargonda thana. Two months ago my father Hemlabori went to the Aavapalli bazaar to buy rice. Sodibhola and Hemlajoga of the village accompanied him. Its been two months my father has not returned home. Hemlajoga who had accompanied him to the market, returned to the village and told us that the police beat them up in Aavapalli bazaar, after which the SPOs took all three (Hemlabori, Sodibhola and Hemlajoga) to the Aavapalli salwa judum camp. The SPOs were 10-12 in number. The SPOs questioned them in the camp after which they took the three to the nearby jungle and started beating them with weapons. At this point Hemlajoga managed to escape from the clutches of the salwa judum. Hemlajoga returned to the village and told us that my father Hemlabori and Sodibhola have been killed. All of us villagers are terrified: members of Salwa judum are killing and looting people in village after village.

3. Sub: Complaint about my husband being killed by the police and SPO.

I am Jogi w/o Sodibhola. I am a resident of Tumadpal village, Simlipenta panchayat, Jagargonda thana. Two months ago when I went to Aavapalli bazaar with my husband Sodibhola to buy rice, the police beat up my husband and Hemlabori and Hemlajoga of the village. Then the Salwa judum SPOs took these three to the Aavapalli camp. Of the three Hemlajoga informed us that Sodibhola and Hemlabori were beaten up mercilessly by the SPOs. Hemlajogi escaped and returned to the village to give this information. I was scared so did not report this. All the villagers are very terrified even now.

4. Sub: Complaint about salwa judum and forces setting fire to our houses and looting.

I am Hemlajoga. I am a resident of Tumadpal village, Jagargonda thana. Two years ago members of salwa judum and the forces came to our village and set fire to 18 houses. Our goats, hens and garinstock all got burnt in this fire. Also they looted Rs. 17,000 that was hidden in my wife’s sari. This hooliganism of the salwa judum and forces has terrorized the villagers. Even now we are staying under trees in the forest, out of fear.

13. Sub: Complaint about the police and SPOs burning my house and all items perishing in the fire.

I am Sodibhima s/o Lakhma. I am resident of Gondpalli village, Sodi para, Gondpalli panchayat, Jagargond thana, Konta tehsil, Danewada. Around March 2007 we received information that police and SPOs were coming to our village. It must be noted that police and SPOs were going to villages and beating up people. Thus upon getting news of their visit, I and my family left home and ran into the forests. When they came they burnt our house and all the items perished in the fire. These items included 20 quintal rice, 8 gallons tora oil, Rs. 500, Rs. 5000 worth roof, and one hen (5 kilo).

We are submitting this information of police and SPO atrocities, so that you may forward it to the appropriate authorities.

ANNEXURE 6

Letter to Chief Secretary, Chhattisgarh

Dear

On behalf of the National Commission for Protection of Child Rights, (NCPCR) and its team which included Dr. J.M. Lyngdoh and Mr. R. Venkat Reddy, I wish to thank the Chhattisgarh administration for all the arrangements made during our visit to the State from 17th to 19 December 2007. We would particularly like to thank Mr. P. Joy Oomen, Additional Chief Secretary, for chairing the meeting of the Secretaries and offering to take immediate steps based on our suggestions.

Based on our interaction with the residents of Injaram Camp and Erra Bore Camp, public hearing in Kirandul where a large number of tribal population and others gave their testimonies and in our interaction with the District and Block level officers we present the following issues for immediate, priority action. In fact these were raised in the meeting that was held with the Secretaries of the State Government on 19th December 2007.

I. Child Rights Training & Development

- Setting up of a Child Rights Cell in the office of the District Collector with members from the community, officials and non-officials;
- Training of the functionaries of all institutions dealing with children (schools, hostels, Ashram Shalas, Anganwadi Centres etc) in a systematic fashion to sensitize them on child rights issues.
- In this regard, the Commission offers to facilitate the training programme through National Institute for Rural Development (NIRD), Rajendranagar, and Hyderabad in consultation with UNICEF. The first tranche of this training is to be delivered to the currently operational 286 volunteers in the 4 camps of Dantewada district who have already been selected as part of a community microplanning process.
- A second tranche of training is to be delivered to 25 volunteers (including teachers and officials) from each of the affected Blocks who are to be identified and who will then act as a monitoring group supporting the spread of “Jan Sunwai” to all panchayats in the area.
- Introducing a process of social audit of children’s rights at Block and District level by the trained people. The process should take place through Gram Sabha meetings to be held in each Panchayat on children’s issues, with consolidated reporting to be shared with the NCPCR.
- Further recognising the special role of police in protecting child rights, a group of SPO volunteers to be identified for Child Rights Protection training.
II. Disruption to Education, Food/Nutrition and Sanitation Infrastructure & Services – Camps & Villages

- Conduct a rapid assessment of food security issues and child malnutrition levels in camps and villages and implement immediate actions to target gaps including meal provision through schools and anganwadis.
- Given our very high concern at the near invisibility of the adolescent age group of children, a special plan for identifying and providing education for them may be worked out.
- Establish procedures for greater transparency in all institutions such as schools, hostels, Ashram Shalas, Aanganwadi Centres etc., by constituting a committee for periodic review of the functioning of such institutions.
- Immediate action with regard to provision of adequate toilet and sanitation facilities in the camps.

III. Inter-State Collaboration – Displaced Families

- Conduct a survey and maintain a register of families that have shifted to Andhra Pradesh in the past couple of years the wake of the unrest in the Dantewada area and share this data with the AP government to ensure access to all basic social services by these families.
- Interact with the government of Andhra Pradesh for providing education to the children of all those families, who have fled from Chhattisgarh seeking shelter in the Districts of Khammam, Warangal, Adilabad, Karimnagar, and East Godavari. In this regard, it was also decided that the Chhattisgarh Government will facilitate issuing of transfer certificates and other documentation to children who have dropped out of schools and help in readmission their into the schools, supply textbooks in Hindi, and even depute school teachers to Andhra Pradesh for enabling reintegrating children into schools.

In addition to the above priority actions in the immediate term we request you to provide information regarding the population livelihood patterns, health and education status of people living in the camps as well as in villages in Dantewada and Bijapur Districts in accordance with the list of questions that is enclosed. On the basis of this further targeted action plans need to be developed and implemented to address access and quality of key service provision in the areas of health and education and ensure protection and rehabilitation with regard to the impact of conflict & violence on families.

During our visit in the Dantewada Region, we were struck by the enormous tragedies of one and all especially the tribals, their family members, women and children. This is indeed unfortunate. We strongly feel that the State has an obligation to extricate them from the unusual circumstances they have been caught in and ensure their security and fundamental human rights as paramount concerns.
We feel that with conscious effort in the direction of protecting children and their rights there is a window of hope in harmonizing the society. Giving every child an access to education up to class ten and investing in providing all that is necessary to make education happen, we feel can ensure a secure freedom for these children and their families and even deepen democracy.

We will visit Chattisgarh and the Dantewada and Bijapur district after four months to review the progress made on all the above points of action. We hope to receive a comprehensive response from you within one month time. A detailed report of the Commission’s visit shall be sent to you shortly.

With regards,

Yours sincerely,

Letter to Chief Secretary, Andhra Pradesh

Dear

On behalf of the National Commission for Protection of Child Rights, (NCPCR) and its team which included Dr. J.M. Lyngdoh and Mr. R. Venkat Reddy, I wish to thank the Andhra Pradesh administration for all the arrangements made during our visit to the State on 17th December 2007. We would particularly like to thank Mr. Raghunandan (Joint Collector, Khammam) for offering to take immediate steps based on our suggestions.

A public hearing was conducted in Charla (Khammam district) to understand the situation of the displaced tribals from Chhattisgarh, who have fled from the civil unrest in Dantewada (Chhattisgarh) and sought refuge in Andhra Pradesh. Preliminary estimates show a minimum of 30,000 people, being settled in Khammam and the adjoining districts of Warangal, Adilabad and East Godavari. Any form of displacement puts a strain on family resources and children are particularly affected by this. In such situations special arrangements need to be made to ensure basic entitlements for displaced people and children.

The issue of migration of tribals and their entitlements has to be dealt with in a systematic fashion. Based on our interaction with the participants of the public hearing in Charla, where a considerable number of displaced tribals gave testimonies, our visit to one settlement of displaced people in Sirivella village, and in our interactions with the District and Block level officers we present the following issues for immediate, priority action.

Population Estimation:
1. There is a dire need for a census of displaced tribals in those districts of Andhra Pradesh that border Chhattisgarh. This census should including a clear age- and gender-wise estimation of children in the 0-18 years age group.

Nutrition, Health and Food Security:
2. We found the nutrition status of all displaced tribals to be precarious. Most families survive by doing coolie work and in some cases begging as well. We recommend a rapid assessment of food security issues and child malnutrition levels in camps and villages and immediate actions to target gaps including meal provision through schools and anganwadis.

3. Children in the age-group on 0-6 years have no access to Anganwadis and ICDS services. Nonetheless immunisation services have been made available to them. All children below six years have to be covered under the ICDS, and a programme must immediately be launched to address the hunger and malnourishment of children, pregnant and lactating mothers and adolescent girls.

4. PDS Ration cards should be given to the Internally Displaced People (IDP) as an emergency response. The adults also need to be given job cards, so that they can apply for work under the NREGA.

Status of Education:
5. Displaced children are not admitted to schools in AP because of
   (a) lack of school-leaving certificates.
   (b) change in language of instruction from hindi to telugu

The Commission recommends that all such children must be given admission in schools at the earliest. Schools dropouts are to be given education and arrangements of RBCs have to be made through the SSA to reintegrate them into formal schools. This would include collective meetings of the district collector with the district education officers. This problem was also discussed with the Chhattisgarh government and it was also decided that they will facilitate issuing of transfer certificates and other documentation to children who have dropped out of schools.
They had even offered to depute school teachers, who knew Hindi, to Andhra Pradesh.

Institutional Responses:

6. There should be a cell in the District Collectorate to respond on children’s issues.

7. Gram Sabha to be held in each panchayat on ‘children’s issues’. Social Audit of children’s rights should be conducted at block-level.

8. Lastly, a meeting of the Education Secretaries and district collectors of both A.P. and Chhattisgarh would be beneficial in redressing issues of the children and their education.

During our visit, we were struck by the enormous tragedies of one and all especially the tribals, their family members, women and children. This is indeed unfortunate. We strongly feel that the State has an obligation to extricate them from the unusual circumstances they have been caught in and ensure their security and fundamental human rights as paramount concerns.

We will visit Andhra Pradesh and Khammam district after four months to review the progress made on all the above points of action. We hope to receive a comprehensive response from you within one month time. A detailed report of the Commission’s visit shall be sent to you shortly.

Thankyou
Your Sincerely

Shantha Sinha
